The CENTURY21 Newsletter

A Special Message:

Wow, while much of the country is getting a true taste of winter, albeit a delayed one, here in Florida we are experiencing summer weather with the high yesterday over 80 degrees! No snow on the horizon for us. Not to mention that we just had the Kumquat Festival in Dade City, and soon our area will be hosting the Florida Strawberry Fesitival in Plant City and the 2012 Florida State Fair in Tampa. Of course, the old year-round stand-bys are here as well, Disney World, Busch Gardents, Sea World, Universal and the rest. Never a shortage of things to do here or great weather in which to enjoy them!

Super Bowl XLVI is right around the corner, and so is the CENTURY 21® Super Bowl Commercial!

For the first time in the 40-year history of our brand, we will air a commercial during the most watched television event of the year.

The Super Bowl has a unique place in American television: when the commercials air, viewers actually start paying more attention to the broadcast. Did you know that over 111 million people are expected to watch this year's Super Bowl, and I hope you will be watching and see CENTURY 21 Agents right in the middle of it!

On February 5th, tune in to your local NBC station to watch as CENTURY 21 Real Estate takes a new place in history! We are sponsoring a full half-hour segment in pre-game, and we air 11 pre-game commercials during that day. And of course, as our finale, our special :30 Super Bowl commercial will air in the 3rd quarter of the game itself.

Don't forget to watch and vote for us! You'll see exactly how to cast your vote for your favorite commercial on Super Bowl Sunday at century21.com.

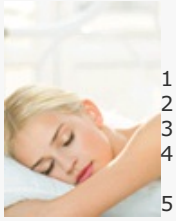
How to prepare for power outages

Extreme weather conditions often cause power outages, often for long stretches of time. Whether you lose power for days, due to weather, or even for just a few hours because of a faulty power line, here are some tips to be fully prepared in emergencies.

Buy emergency supplies BEFORE disaster strikes, when items are easily accessible. Purchase items such as flashlights, matches, batteries, candles, lanterns, and lots of bottled water. Battery-powered space heaters may also come in handy. Consider getting a car cell phone charger to ensure continued battery life in your phone. Visit a camping store for food supplies in addition to your local grocery store for canned goods and non-perishable food. Don't forget a manual can opener and disposable plates and utensils. Basic tools, extension cords, blankets and extra batteries should be included in your emergency supplies. Place all these items in a conveniently located waterproof container. Include a list of emergency phone numbers, such as your utility company, local fire and police department.



Simple ways to stay healthy during flu season

1. Wash your hands frequently
2. Get adequate sleep
3. Avoid touching your nose, mouth and eyes
4. If you work at an office disinfect your desk area frequently, including phones, keyboards and communal items
5. Take vitamins and eat healthy
